

Our burn down chart has more drops near the end of the sprint, there are some spikes as tasks were reassigned or re-evaluated. The velocity of this sprint was more dynamic than the last one as we did more stand up meetings and had improved communication. Still, our velocity can increase if we start each sprint earlier.